

VALENTINE'S DAY QUIZ
ON AN AFRICAN SAFARI

QUESTION: A 3 ton rhino has just suggested you be his valentine. Do you:

- (a) politely decline and hope for the best
 - (b) suggest he flake off (if your bazooka is ready to settle any irreconcilable differences that might arise)
 - (c) direct him to the nearest FANNY FARMERS for the holiday special to present you as a symbol of his affection and hope he doesn't realize you're giving him phony directions
 - (d) promise him a date with your best friend who has fallen asleep sunbathing and can't hear you
-
- (e) accept gracefully while revving your jeep to 5000 r.p.m.'s and then drop the clutch
 - (f) remember that your Beneficial Life insurance policy lapsed last week
 - (g) cancel your return flight home
 - (h) wonder how many other parts to this question your patience might have tolerated

OPEN FOR ANSWER

ANSWER. None of the above. This was a trick question.
Rhinos are hibernating in February.
If you didn't see this coming maybe you should be too.

Happy Valentine's Day

A LASTMINUTE CARD
from dr. bob's

DISCOUNT GREETING CARD
ENTERPRISES

"corny cards for every occasion"