

campaign 2000*

what if we elected santa like we do US presidents...?

who'd be ready to slide down your chimney this Christmas eve? **

and if Santa had secret service reindeer[†] ...

...would they let Santa visit your house?

We wish you a pleasant MMI^{††}, a safe transition into the world of the next US administration, and above all,
a decent chance at a bit of happiness
for you and yours
and especially for the many less fortunate among us around the planet bob, ani and borrowed plant

best wishes
ani and bob

Ani

bob

Notes:

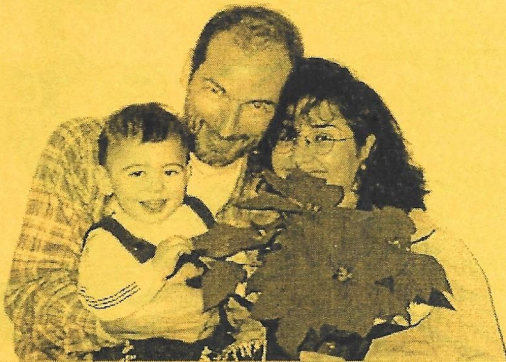

* The real spirit of giving... to the tune of 3 billion bucks.
[Outside the US: the elephant and donkey symbolize the Republican and Democratic parties, while this year some might compare the Green Party candidate to The Grinch Who Stole Christmas, soon to appear in a theater near you as a US global culture export.]

 Figuratively speaking of course. When's the last time you looked down your chimney?

† They're the ones with the sunglasses.

‡ Roman numerals, a perfect example of how long bad ideas can last!

This is just a small way of saying you touched our lives in some way this year or in some past year and we are thinking of you now.

uncle bob and aunt ani, with borrowed nephew drbobenterprises.com losing money like the worst of the dot coms but still smiling

in memory of the women of afghanistan and Iraqi civilians
who will not make the real 3rd millenium